Can you imagine being in a club and seeing Beyonce and Jay Z singing karaoke? Well, Page Six reports the power couple have been checking out the Miami club scene recently, but have also been spending plenty of family time together. The pair brought baby Blue Ivy to brunch on New Year's Day at Soho Beach House and also were spotted dining at MC Kitchen the next day. They also shared a romantic dinner for two at Zuma and at Casa Tua, and that's where they sang karaoke for some really shocked guests. Then Jay Z then paid with Beyoncé's credit card. Wait, doesn't she have to sign on the dotted line?
