

The Setai Grill's Sunday brunch offers a culinary tour around the world.

64

Like

8

Tweet

Brunch Bunch

by Eugenia Santaella | Miami magazine | January 25, 2013

Lazy leisure, thy name is brunch. From bottomless mango mimosas to Cuban bread french toast, these restaurant offerings are the perfect cure for your Sunday blues.

1. Eating House

WHY Fortunately for you, the popular pop-up eatery has expanded its dinner-only service to include their Wakin-N-Bacon brunch. Unfortunately for you, they don't take reservations and the line famously wraps around the block. However, favorites like Cap'n Crunch pancakes, chicken 'n' waffles, and their $5 Tang mimosas make it well worth your wait. WHERE 804 Ponce de Leon Boulevard, Coral Gables, 305.448.6524, eatinghousemiami.com

2. Mercado Midtown

WHY The best solution to a late Saturday night is chef Patricio Sandoval's reworked menu of traditional brunch items with an added Mexican flair. The true magic lies in their Ultimate Hangover Cure, a $30 addition that allots guests unlimited cocktails of their choice. WHERE 3252 NE First Ave., Miami, 786.369.0430, mercaditorestaurants.com/midtown

3. OTC

WHY This neighborhood haunt has quickly become one of the most in-demand Sunday spot for a casual but fun bite. The concept is simple: Patrons order and pay at the counter before being seated. But what the restaurant lacks in pomp, they make up for with their delicious menu and laid-back atmosphere. The $15 bottomless mimosas, Bellinis and sparkling wines don't hurt either! WHERE 1250 S Miami Ave., Miami, 305.374.4612, otc-restaurants.com

4. MC Kitchen

WHY Trust us when we say you won't be able to refuse this traditional brunch by chef Dena Marino. Her rustic Italian style and appreciation for local and seasonal ingredients make splurging on dishes like black truffle bruschetta and sunny-side up farm egg pizza easy. WHERE 4141 NE Second Ave., Miami, 305.456.9948, mckitchenmiami.com

5. The Grill at the Setai

WHY For a more elevated take on the traditional, head over to this Miami Beach staple for live jazz and exotic dishes by famed Executive Chef Mathias Gervais and his team. Limitless Taittinger Champagne and chilled Bellinis and mimosas further enhance the experience, making this a meal that's not to be misseced. WHERE 2001 Collins Ave., Miami Beach, 305.520.6400, setai.com

